KCTI is the core of future growth of Korea

Culture and tourism are the fundamental elements that compose human activities

Culture lets humans be humans. Culture allows people to have temporal and spatial experiences. And in that sense, tourism is one of the cultural activities that make a human have more humanity. Thus culture and tourism are essential for our lives and they are an important path to go through for understanding humans.

Culture and tourism: The core of the growth in Korea

In the 21st century the advanced industrial countries are not expected to have as much dramatic growth as they did in the past. We are not an exception either. Placed in this situation of having to keep creating our potential and discovering a new power source for the growth of this country, culture and tourism are being raised as the new power sources for the advancement of Korea in the future. The efforts of the KCTI continue to guarantee that the new power sources for the growth of Korea will center on culture and tourism with an innovative approach that this age requires.

KCTI becomes the future's hope

We are experiencing a world economic crisis in the middle of our dramatic process to be a knowledge based society. However, the nature of this crisis is cultural and the way to overcome the crisis can be found in culture and tourism. The KCTI will take the initiative in overcoming the crisis and enriching our lives. As a core organization leading culture and tourism policies in this knowledge based society, the KCTI will be settled in the middle of hope to take responsibility for the future of Korea.

Chung, Kap-Young, Chief of KCTI

Further and higher, the KCTI takes action

In our sight there are traditional performances, characters based on cultural content, and families enjoying happy picnics and touring trails built on new paths in the forest. There are new and various surroundings spread in front of us as we move further and higher.

The KCTI raises national competitiveness through culture and tourism.

- To visualize future strategy driving the development of culture and tourism in Korea
- To provide in-depth research information related to art, cultural business and tourism
- To develop appropriate and effective policies through scientific analysis
- To lay out schemes for composing a foundation for sharpening competitiveness and organizational improvement
- To present life-centered policies for hopeful Korea
- To lead policy Issue through scientific and quick policy trend analysis

Diverse cultural ideas and experiences of tourism that we meet in our everyday life are the value that the KCTI pursues

The KCTI : the center of studying culture and tourism policies in Korea

New ideas and innovative thoughts create a cultural society, and leading strategy and progressive action bring the growth of the tourism industry. KCTI, the government-run research institute presents the vision of a hopeful Korea that is derived from culture and tourism.
